INVENTORY OF JUDD ESTATE.

THE DECEASED JURIST OWNED VALUABLE PROPERTY.

Instructions in the Flint Libel Which Possess Significance—Court Items of Interest.

Appended to Nina I. Flint's libel for divorce, in the bold hand writing of Judge Humphreys, is the following: "Let this suit be prosecuted in former papers; libellant not being required to make any costs whatever, other than for stamps on summons and libel."

To the casual reader the judge's instructions may mean little, but to poor people who are compelled to resort to law to right wrongs, they mean much and are clothed with great significance. Prior to Judge Humphreys' appearance on the bench, parties on instituting suits were compelled to deposit $37.50 to defray cost; expenses not incurred at the time suits were filed. It was a great hardship; a great wrong. Flint's libel in the case of John B. Estate Ltd. vs. A. E. H. Judd defendant, has filed exceptions to Judge Humphreys' decision, or the ground that the decision is contrary to law and the evidence and the weight of evidence. And exception is taken to the finding of the decision that the word "is" as used by the testator, meant the enclosed lot. The plaintiff is given until August 15th to file and perfect its bill of exceptions.

An inventory of the assets of the late A. E. Judd has been filed by Agnes H. B. Judd, executrix of the estate. The real property consists of the residence on Nuuanu avenue; pasture land at Pawaia; land at Kalaheo.

The personal property comprises 23 shares of Brewer & Co.; 490 shares Judd Building Co.; 14 shares People's Ice & Refrigerating Co.; 400 shares Hawaiian Agricultural Company; 21 shares Wilder's Steamship Co.; household effects, personal effects, carriages, horses, cows and cash $1,770.97.

Judge Humphreys was occupied yesterday in hearing arguments in the case of Mary C. Aldrich et al. vs. Persicilla E. Hassinger et al. litigation for reforming a deed.
